

Internet Access for your Merchants

A faster, easier way for merchants to view their bankcard information eMerchantView is an innovative product that makes a wide variety of merchant bankcard account information accessible to your merchants through their personal computer via the Internet.

Features and Benefits

eMerchantView is an internet-based solution, which allows you to offer your merchants direct access to their credit card transaction processing information. This information includes the merchant's:

- Statement (three months of history)
- Batch Deposit information and transaction details (six months of history)
- Chargeback information (six months of history)
- Retrieval information (six months of history)
- Cardholder account inquiries (six months of monetary history)

This service is designed to save you and your merchants time, and make you more productive by delivering requested information directly to the merchant's personal computer. Using simple, point-and-click commands, merchants can retrieve the information that they currently do not have available at their fingertips in a timely manner. Powerful features let you look at summary level information or drill down to transaction details.

This product greatly simplifies the wide variety of tasks that a merchant needs to maintain or improve financial control of their business. In addition, it may help reduce the volume of customer service calls that you receive at your institution.

eMerchantView gives your merchants the tools that they need to manage their bankcard business. This, in turn, may increase revenue and reduce merchant attrition through satisfaction of the product, all of which can result in increased profitability for your institution.
